If your private library fell into Madrigal hands, which three books would you do anything to get back?

My Codebreaker's Guide, my childhood copy of A Wrinkle in Time, and an antique book I found in London that claims to hold the secrets of the universe. I haven't broken the code yet. Which is why I'd need my Codebreaker's Guide.

Your hunt takes you to an international city, but you need to lay low for a while. Where's the best place to hide?

This is confidential, correct? Then I can reveal that I have in my possession a credit card belonging to fellow agent Peter Lerangis. If I have to lay low, I'll pick the most expensive hotel in the city and charge it. I'm sure Peter won't mind...much.

Your passport is filled with romantic and exotic destinations. Which three countries would you like to add to its pages?

Bali, India, and how come I haven't been sent to Italy yet? I love pasta!

Madrigals insist that you were once banned from a country. Were you? Confirm or deny.

I deny everything, including that unfortunate incident in Madagascar. I promise you, the mongoose did it.

While conducting surveillance on unknowing Cahills, your favorite snack is _____.

Yogurt smoothies. It used to be pretzels, but crunching and spying do not go together. I learned that the hard way.

You're trapped in an enemy Cahill stronghold and must commandeer an escape vehicle. Would you most likely fly a plane, pilot a submarine, or drive a tank?

Definitely a tank. I love to knock down walls.

Cahill spies know most of your secrets. Can you share a secret about yourself they haven't discovered yet?

If you get me early in the morning, I just might tell you everything I know for a double shot latte.

While hunting Clues, you want to pose as a foreign tourist. What accent can you fake the best?

I am fluent in French-American. Eet ees zo easy for moi to fake eet.

You find yourself thrown into a Cahill talent show. What would you do once onstage?

Karaoke, anyone?
